MOONSHINE DEALT WITH HARSHLY BY JUDGE B. B. PARK

MANY VIOLATORS PLEAD GUILTY TO CHARGES; JAIL SENTENCES GIVEN OUT IN MAJORITY OF CASES

Moonshine was dealt the most severe blow that it has ever experienced in Wisconsin Friday morning when one after another those accused of selling contraband liquor walked up to Judge Park's bench, pleaded guilty and received sentences ranging from fines of $100 and costs, the minimum sentence which was given to Ford Slusser, this city, to a sentence of nine months in the county jail plus $100 fine and costs, which was handed out to Henry Knoll, this city, who was convicted by a jury late Thursday afternoon.

State and federal prohibition officers claimed that the clean-up in this city is the best that has ever been staged in the state as all defendants either were found guilty or pleaded guilty.

Knoll Goes to Jail

Henry Knoll, this city, proprietor of a soft drink parlor on Third avenue north, was the first to receive sentence when court convened this morning. The fact that this was his second conviction under the Severson law and that his place of business has given constant trouble to police officers was taken into consideration by Judge Park who, despite the apepal for leniency on the part of Mrs. Knoll, sentenced the defendant to a nine months term with Sheriff Bogie and fined him $100 and costs with an additional two months jail sentence if the fine and costs were not paid.

Joe Snyder, found guilty by a jury, was given a three months jail sentence owing to his past clear record. In giving out the sentence Judge Park said, "If you would have pleaded guilty you would have been let off a great deal easier, but as I thing you perjured yourself on the witness stand I will have to give you a jail sentence."

William Rauft, a laborer at the Central hotel, pleaded guilty to the charge of selling Joe Hayes, private detective who was the state star witness in all booze cases originating in this city, drinks of "moon" out of a bottle which he carried with him. Warning the defendant that the next

Manufacturers Will Tell Their Side Of Huber Bill

Madison, Wis.—Manufacturers from all parts of the state are expected to journey to Madison on Wednesday, April 6, when Senator Henry A. Huber's unemployment insurance bill will be up for hearing.

The upper house on that day will resolve itself into a committee of the whole to hear all interested parties. Employers contend that the Huber measure is highly theoretical and that it would throw industry all out of gear if it were enacted into law. It would have the effect they say, of boosting prices on manufactured products of all kinds.

Under the Huber bill, employers would not be obliged to pay men thrown into idleness through no fault of their own, $1 a day. Proponents of the measure feel that this would prove no hardship upon employers and would have the effect of stabilizing industry to the point where unemployment and period of depression would be done away with.

Guard Fund Cut Favored In Committee

(By Associated Press)

Madison, Wis. Apr. 6—Reduction in the appropriation to the Wisconsin National Guard from $600,000 annually, to $225,000 and in its enlisted strength, from 6,700 men to 3,900 will be recommended to the legislature by the joint finance committee as a result of an executive session held last night.

This cut represents a compromise between those favoring a much lower figure and those who would have a grant of $275,000. Senator Henry Huber, chairman of the committee, stood out for $200,000, while Governor Blaine, who was in attendance, urged the committee to allow $225,000. The latter proposal was accepted by 75 votes after an extended session.

Before an agreement was finally reached eight motions had been taken by the committee, calling for amounts ranging from $200,000 to $275,000 as a grant to the Guard.

Will Hurt Guard

Madison, Wis., April 6—Should the legislature approve the $225,000 appropriation to be recommended for the Wisconsin National Guard by the joint finance committee, it will necessitate a big slash in the state military organization, the adjutant general department said today.

At least two thousand men will have to be mustered out of service, the department estimates. This cut which brings the strength from 6,700 to 3,900 men can only be made with consideration of the war department, and may involve the future payment of federal aid to Wisconsin, Adjutant General Salsman pointed out.

Fifty Employes Of Marshfield Factory Strike

Marshfield, Wis.—Demanding a minimum wage of $3 per day, fifty employes of Blum Bros.' butter tub factory of this city went on strike yesterday afternoon.

John Blum, one of the factory owners and managers, stated shortly after the walk out that men had been secured from the company's other factory and that operation of the butter tub department would not be disturbed.

Refused the pay due them until Saturday, the regular pay day, the strikers proceeded in a body to the office of Atty. John Cole, where they were informed that under the circumstances they would have to wait until the regular pay day for their money.

The strikers will not be encouraged to return, according to a statement by the managers of the Blum factory.

The butter tub department is a recent addition to the factory, it was explained, and inasmuch as it began operation little more than two months ago, at which time most of the employes were new and inexperienced men, the wages were not as attractive as desired. A wage increase was effected yesterday morning, it was stated, and had the men remained on duty they would have been benefitted by the increase.

F. E. Carpenter and John Kowalewski, both of the town of Aremnia Adam county were granted a continuance of their hearing on the charge of removing $1,200 worth of farm machinery from the farm owned by Frank Wheelihan, Necedah lawyer. Evidence brought out proved that the machinery was removed from the farm in Saratoga, without the owner's permission during the winter months.

When arraigned, both defendants asked for a continuance until Monday which was granted by Judge E. N. Pomainville. Bonds were set at $1,000 in each case.

Find Bodies Of Murdered Girls With Throats Slashed

FOUND LYING ON STATEN ISLAND ROADSIDE; HUSBAND OF ONE QUESTIONED BY POLICE AUTHORITIES

(By Associated Press)

New York, April 6—Miss Bessie Mahon of Utica, N. Y., and Mrs. Irene Blandeno of Jersey City, New Jersey, were found murdered, with their throats cut, on an isolated roadside at Dongan Hills, Staten Island early today. Police believe they were murdered elsewhere and the bodies thrown from an automobile.

Mrs. Blandeno, who had an artificial leg, was identified through the finding of a receipt for the limb. Miss Mahon had been visiting her at her home in Jersey City, New Jersey, according to the police.

Find Butcher Knife

Thirty feet from the roadside police discovered in a clump of bushes a long thin butcher knife, covered with blood stains. In addition to their throats being cut, a stab wound was found in the back of each girl.

A receipted bill for a cork leg, made out to Mrs. Blandeno, Jersey City, was found in the fur coat worn by one of the girls. One girl was a blond and the other had red hair.

The girls had been dead four or five hours when found, according to physicians. There were no signs of a struggle at the roadside.

The receipt was made out by John Escher, New York artificial limb manufacturer. Escher said Mrs. Blandeno had told him that she was married four years ago when she was fifteen years old. Her husband, a barber in Jersey City told the police this morning that he had gone into the saloon business in Jersey City. Blandeno and his assistant Broyatio Di Lorenyo were taken to headquarters for questioning.

Di Lorenyo said Mrs. Blandeno and Miss Mahon went out about eight o'clock last night, a short time after Blandeno had left the house.

No Opposition In Town Of Seneca Election Tuesday

The election in the town of Seneca last Tuesday was a very quiet affair. The weather was not favorable for a large turnout and the fact that there was no opposition to any of the candidates tended to make the vote polled rather light.

The following were elected: Supervisors, Wm. Jackson and Peter Peterson; Treasurer D. M. Smith; Clerk, A. Huser; Assessor, P. Condo; Justice of Peace, Casper Huser; Constables, H. Condo and Jost Schilter.

There will be a meeting of the town board next Saturday to swear in the newly elected officers.

Military Training At University Up For Consideration

(By Associated Press)

Madison, Wis., April 6—Military training at the University of Wisconsin will feature hearings in committees of the legislature during the coming week, with the Polakowski bill to do away with state armories and turn them into school houses another consideration of the committee sessions.

Two bills, both aimed at the University cadet corps, will be before a joint meeting of the senate committee on education and public welfare and the assembly education committee, on Friday, April 13. The Sachtjen bill in the assembly would make military training optional rather than compulsory and the Polakowski bill in the senate would do away with the training.

The joint finance committee, on Thursday will hear the Polakowski bill turning state owned armories over to the cities in which they are located for school purposes. This measure affects property valued at approximately $850,000, the adjutant general's department estimates.

The Sachtjen bill has received the backing of the administration, and according to Assemblyman Herman Sachtjen, its author, should go through the legislature with but little opposition. The Polakowski bill abolishing state owned armories, has already been engrossed by the assembly and is sent to the finance committee for consideration of its financial features.

Eighteen Go To Polls At Pittsville Election Day

Two dollars per vote is the estimated cost of the election at Pittsville on Tuesday at which only eighteen ballots were cast. No city officers were voted upon, and with no contest county superintendent of schools there was nothing to draw the people to the polls.

In the town of Wood Charles Horn and Ernest Perkel were elected supervisors; Adolph Kielman, clerk; Wm. Hinrichson, treasurer; Eric Erickson, assessor; P. H. Morrisey, justice of the peace; and John Horn, Jr., constable.

OFFICERS PLEASED WITH RESULTS OF B. & L. CAMPAIGN

BELIEVE EFFECTS OF EDUCATIONAL EFFORTS WILL COME LATER; FUNDS SUFFICIENT FOR TEN LOANS

Although a number of team captains in the recent Building and Loan association membership drive have not yet filed their final reports, returns are sufficiently complete to make it evident that the campaign was well worth while for its immediate results, and even more particularly for its education value, R. E. Wagers, who directed the campaign, announced in a statement today.

Mr. Wagers stated that although the number of new members signed up during the drive was less than had been hoped for, officers of the association and he himself were well pleased with the interest aroused in the building and loan method of saving, and it is confidently expected that this interest will be reflected in a steady increase in membership during the next few years.

People Hesitant

"Although the building and loan plan has been in successful operation in other Wisconsin cities for many years, it is only natural that people here should be a litle slow in taking up something that is entirely new to them," Mr. Wagers asserted. "I am fully convinced that after we have paid a number of dividends people who at this time are hesitant about investing their savings in something with which they are not acquainted, will be glad to take advantage of the opportunity to secure a return of six eight or ten per cent."

The Building and Loan association's building program for this year will probably not be as large as it would have been had the hoped for number of new members been secured, it is said, but funds will be available for loans to all of the ten applicants whose requests are now in the hands of the association. The granting of these ten loans will finance the construction of six new homes, and provide for the completion of four others which are already under construction.

Filibuster By Progressives Prevents Vote

(By Associated Press)

Madison, Wis., Apr. 6—The filibuster engineered by Progressive members of the Wisconsin senate throughout yesterday, to prevent a vote on the Severson bill to increase the size of the University of Wisconsin board of regents, until absent members could reach Madison to prevent its defeat, was continued until an early hour this morning when adjourament was taken to nine o'clock this monring. Passage of this bill would give the administration immediate control of the administration of the university.

The wrangling of members was stopped long enough during the evening to bring a vote on the Quick bill providing for licensing of all private detective agencies. The vote by which the measure was indefinitely postponed was reconsidered 16 to 15 and then the measure was again killed 16 to 15. This bill was once passed by the upper house with little opposition.

Senator W. I. Smith then moved for reconsideration of the vote by which it was passed. This move prevailed. Later the bill was finally killed.

Future Of Scout Work Depends On Drive For Funds

With the future of the boy scout movement in Wisconsin Rapids depending almost wholly upon the success of their efforts, the finance committee of the local scout council, headed by Mayor O. R. Roenius, is laying plans for a drive to open Thursday of next week which it is hoped will provide the $3,000 necessary to complete the scout council's 1923 budget.

In the campaign for funds, which will open immediately following the father and son banquet next Wednesday evening, an effort will be made to obtain the support of all who are interested in the welfare of the boys of the community. $2,000 of the $5,000 annual budget has already been raised, largely through contributions by the Rotary club, and by Port Edwards and Nekoosa men interested in the carrying on of the scout program in those villages, and those who have the matter in hand are confident that the necessary response will be forthcoming.

Not only is the carrying on of the boy scout work here, and in the villages of Port Edwards, Nekoosa and Biron, which are included in the Wisconsin Rapids district, dependent upon the needed financial support, but the camp at Sunset Lake, which is controlled by the Stevens Point and Wisconsin Rapids councils, is at stake. G. O. Babcock, a member of the drive committee, pointed out today. Without the necessary funds to carry its share of the camp expense, the local council will lose the investment which has already been made in the camp.

Withdrawal of support by this city would also result in a considerable hardship upon the Stevens Point council, it was pointed out.

Blaine Signs Bill To Protect Americanism

Bennett, Supervisor of Cranmoor, chairman of the auditing committee of the oCunty oBard to be in the best shape that the committee has ever found upon examination in their annual audits. We are fortunate in having such efficient officers. The books of County Clerk Sam Church are the finest set of books I have ever seen and he deserves commendation for his work," Mr. Bennett stated.

FIND LAND BANK BONDS INCLUDED IN POSTAL LOOT

PRESIDENT'S SIGNATURE MISSING, BUT SECURITIES OTHERWISE NEGOTIABLE; MISSED REGISTERED MAIL

(By Associated Press)

St. Louis, Mo., Apr. 6—Bonds of the St. Louis Federal Reserve Land Bank amounting to $2,139,900 were in the loot obtained by five bandits who late Monday morning held up the mail truck in the heart of the downtown business section here, according to information obtained this afternoon by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The bonds, printed in Washington, were being sent to the bank here. They lacked the signatures of the vice-president and secretary of the bank, but police authorities believe the bandits would not hesitate to forge these signatures, the Post-Dispatch says.

Various Denominations

The stolen land bank bonds were in number and denominations as follows:

Ten of $40; 20 of $100; 25 of $500; 500 of $1,000; 25 of $5,000; 150 of $10,000.

The total of other bonds taken, it was estimated by postal authorities was approximately $225,000, of which $81,250 at least were negotiable.

It was also learned that shortly before the hold up of the armoured truck ten sacks of registered mail containing many valuable packages for large downtown banks and trust companies were driven to the central post-office station, and the bandits just missed those packages.

They obtained nine pouches of registered mail.

Estimate Shows Change In Cities' Population

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Apr. 6—Several changes in the relative size of larger American cities are indicated by the new census figure prepared on the assumption that conditions prevailing in 1920 in the various cities are the same.

The new estimates show that eight of the largest municipalities have replaced their nearest rivals and that two have been shoved out of the fifty largest class.

New York is shown to approach closely the six million mark. Chicago is not far from the three million mark. Philadelphia is near two million and Detroit is near to one million. There have been no changes in the ranks of the first six largest cities.

Milwaukee's mark is given as 484,595; Minneapolis 409,125; St. Paul 241,891.

Moonshine Caused The Death Of Superior Men

Superior, Wis., Apr. 6—Alcohol poisoning from drinking moonshine caused the death of Peter Courval, 62, and Ambrose Poirer, 75, at the Poirer farm near Blueberry, Wisconsin, last Tuesday, according to the statement issued Thursday by Coroner Z. A. Downs.

Courval and Poirer were found dead in bed by neighbors last Tuesday and it was thought possible that the men were victims of a double murder or suicide pact.

Several empty jugs which had contained moonshine were found on the floor and a dismantled still was found by the coroner when he conducted a search of the home.

Elaborate ceremonies are to be held in San Juan today on the occasion of the inauguration of Horace M. Towner as governor of Porto Rico.

"Although the building and loan plan has been in successful operation in other Wisconsin cities for many years, it is only natural that people here should be a litle slow in taking up something that is entirely new to them," Mr. Wagers asserted. "I am fully convinced that after we have paid a number of dividends people who at this time are hesitant about investing their savings in something with which they are not acquainted, will be glad to take advantage of the opportunity to secure a return of six eight or ten per cent."

The Building and Loan association's building program for this year will probably not be as large as it would have been had the hoped for number of new members been secured, it is said, but funds will be available for loans to all of the ten applicants whose requests are now in the hands of the association. The granting of these ten loans will finance the construction of six new homes, and provide for the completion of four others which are already under construction.

Filibuster By Progressives Prevents Vote

(By Associated Press)

Madison, Wis., Apr. 6—The filibuster engineered by Progressive members of the Wisconsin senate throughout yesterday, to prevent a vote on the Severson bill to increase the size of the University of Wisconsin board of regents, until absent members could reach Madison to prevent its defeat, was continued until an early hour this morning when adjournment was taken to nine o'clock this monring. Passage of this bill would give the administration immediate control of the administration of the university.

The wrangling of members was stopped long enough during the evening to bring a vote on the Quick bill providing for licensing of all private detective agencies. The vote by which the measure was indefinitely postponed was reconsidered 16 to 15 and then the measure was again killed 16 to 15. This bill was once passed by the upper house with little opposition.

Senator W. I. Smith then moved for reconsideration of the vote by which it was passed. This move prevailed. Later the bill was finally killed.

Future Of Scout Work Depends On Drive For Funds

With the future of the boy scout movement in Wisconsin Rapids depending almost wholly upon the success of their efforts, the finance committee of the local scout council, headed by Mayor O. R. Roenius, is laying plans for a drive to open Thursday of next week which it is hoped will provide the $3,000 necessary to complete the scout council's 1923 budget.

In the campaign for funds, which will open immediately following the father and son banquet next Wednesday evening, an effort will be made to obtain the support of all who are interested in the welfare of the boys of the community. $2,000 of the $5,000 annual budget has already been raised, largely through contributions by the Rotary club, and by Port Edwards and Nekoosa men interested in the carrying on of the scout program in those villages, and those who have the matter in hand are confident that the necessary response will be forthcoming.

Not only is the carrying on of the boy scout work here, and in the villages of Port Edwards, Nekoosa and Biron, which are included in the Wisconsin Rapids district, dependent upon the needed financial support, but the camp at Sunset Lake, which is controlled by the Stevens Point and Wisconsin Rapids councils, is at stake, G. O. Babcock, a member of the drive committee, pointed out today. Without the necessary funds to carry its share of the camp expense, the local council will lose the investment which has already been made in the camp.

Withdrawal of support by this city would also result in a considerable hardship upon the Stevens Point council, it was pointed out.

Blaine Signs Bill To Protect Americanism

Madison, Wis., Apr. 6—Governor Blaine today signed the Cashman bill passed by both houses of the legislature prohibiting the use in Wisconsin schools of history text books which defame the nation or founders, or which contain propaganda favorable to any foreign nation.

This act will take effect immediately.

Says County Records Are In Very Best Of Condition

The books and records of the county officers for Wood County were said by A. E. Bennett, Supervisor of Cranmoor, chairman of the auditing committee of the oCunty oBard to be in the best shape that the committee has ever found upon examination in their annual audits. Special mention was made by the chairman of work of County Clerk Church.

"I want to say for all the county officers, that we have found that the records as kept by these officers is a fine testimonial of their efficiency and ability. We are fortunate in having such efficient officers. The books of County Clerk Sam Church are the finest set of books I have ever seen and he deserves commendation for his work," Mr. Bennett stated.

FIND LAND BANK BONDS INCLUDED IN POSTAL LOOT

PRESIDENT'S SIGNATURE MISSING, BUT SECURITIES OTHERWISE NEGOTIABLE; MISSED REGISTERED MAIL

(By Associated Press)

St. Louis, Mo., Apr. 6—Bonds of the St. Louis Federal Reserve Land Bank amounting to $2,139,900 were in the loot obtained by five bandits who last Monday morning held up the mail truck in the heart of the downtown business section here, according to information obtained this afternoon by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The bonds, printed in Washington, were being sent to the bank here. They lacked the signatures of the vice-president and secretary of the bank, but police authorities believe the bandits would not hesitate to forge these signatures, the Post-Dispatch says.

Various Denominations

The stolen land bank bonds were in number and denominations as follows: Ten of $40; 20 of $100; 25 of $500; 500 of $1,000; 25 of $5,000; 150 of $10,000.

The total of other bonds taken, it was estimated by postal authorities was approximately $225,000, of which $81,250 at least were negotiable.

It was also learned that shortly before the hold up of the armoured truck ten sacks of registered mail containing many valuable packages for large downtown banks and trust companies were driven to the central post-office station, and the bandits just missed those packages.

They obtained nine pouches of registered mail.

Estimate Shows Change In Cities' Population

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Apr. 6—Several changes in the relative size of larger American cities are indicated by the new census figure prepared on the assumption that conditions prevailing in 1920 in the various cities are the same.

The new estimates show that eight of the largest municipalities have replaced their nearest rivals and that two have been shoved out of the fifty largest class.

New York is shown to approach closely the six million mark. Chicago is not far from the three million mark. Philadelphia is near two million and Detroit is near to one million. There have been no changes in the ranks of the first six largest cities.

Milwaukee's mark is given as 484,595; Minneapolis 409,125; St. Paul 241,891.

Office Of K. K. K. Paper Wrecked By Explosion

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, Ill. Apr. 6—The explosion of a bomb wrecked the publication office of Dawn, the Ku Klu Klan organ, Thursday night. Twenty minutes later another bomb explosion damaged the office of F. W. Gilliand, a roofer, who said he was advertising for the Klan publication.

Soon after the bombings, police telephoned other advertisers of the Dawn to warn them of possible activities of persons responsible for the explosions.

Moonshine Caused The Death Of Superior Men

Superior, Wis., Apr. 6—Alcohol poisoning from drinking moonshine caused the death of Peter Courval, 62, and Ambrose Poirer, 75, at the Poirer farm near Blueberry, Wisconsin, last Tuesday, according to the statement issued Thursday by Coroner Z. A. Downs.

Courval and Poirer were found dead in bed by neighbors last Tuesday and it was thought possible that the men were victims of a double murder or suicide pact.

Several empty jugs which had contained moonshine were found on the floor and a dismantled still was found by the coroner when he conducted a search of the home.

Elaborate ceremonies are to be held in San Juan today on the occasion of the inauguration of Horace M. Towner as governor of Porto Rico.

NOT CRIMINALS BUT FOOLS

The failure of the jury in the trial of William Z. Foster under the Michigan Criminal Syndicalism law to reach a verdict is a reflection of the increasing popular realization of the fact that communists and similar extreme radicals are fools, not criminals.

If twenty-leather-coated visionaries choose to gather in a swamp and mutually hope for the establishment of Soviet government in the United States, no harm is done. As far as any possible effect upon the one hundred and ninety-nine out of every thousand residents of this country is concerned, they and their hopes might just as well be marooned on a south sea island.

Free speech is a splendid safety valve. Let any man with a grievance to air or a scheme to propound talk about it to his heart's content and no one pays any attention to him. But let the police step in and let some court sentence him to the penitentiary and all the papers in the country herald his theories broadcast and thousands of people who before had scarcely heard of him elevate him to martyrdom and subscribe to funds and sign petitions for his release.

Foster freed is not one-half as dangerous as Foster locked up.

Another aspect of the case is its relation to the preservation of fundamental American rights. Freedom of opinion and freedom of expression are fundamental liberties; in spite of the fact that the United States has been at peace for the past four years, there seem to be a good many people who think that the extra-legal restrictions instituted in war days should still be in force.

As a matter of fact the United States government is a government of and by the people and anyone has a right to change it if he can. If Foster and his crowd ever persuade a sufficient number of the people of the United States that it would be a good thing to try the Russian plan, we will undoubtedly try it. That's the way we got woman suffrage and prohibition, two things that the founders of this nation had never even heard of, and there seems to be no logical reason why anything else the people want should not come the same way.

EUGENICS BOSH

Wisconsin is going to repeal the Eugenics law. A most worthy move. As it stands the law is simply an obstruction to marriage. Wisconsin couples by the thousands go to Illinois to obtain their licenses to wed and are married in the Illinois cities without ceremonies which their friends and relatives may attend. A law which drives people to take refuge in a neighboring state is a public nuisance. As long as the legislature is on a kick for the repeal of laws it is a blessing that they have the good fortune to stumble onto the Eugenics law, which has been more of a farce than a benefit.

Those who say they are in a position to know declare that the law has no real value to the people of Wisconsin and we feel decidedly inclined to take their word for it.

offense would land him in jail for a good long term. Judge Park gave him a sentence of a $100 fine and costs with the alternative of serving a 4 months jail sentence.

The case against Alfred Baker, Auburndale, was dismissed owing to the lack of insufficient evidence. According to local officials a small bottle of moon was found in the home of the defendant soon after the death of the father who had been running a hotel and soft drink parlor. As the license was taken out in the former's name and as the children claimed they did not know the liquor was there the state was willing to dismiss the charges.

Local Men Sentenced

William Bobette, pleaded guilty to the charge of selling liquor to Hayes but owing to his past good record he was let off with a two months jail sentence after first receiving a three months sentence.

John Possely, arraigned on the same charge, pleaded guilty and was given three months jail sentence. The fact that he did not fight the case and did not commit perjury was responsible for the light sentence imposed.

Evidence brought out in behalf of James Mason, owner of soft drink parlor in this city, who pleaded guilty to the charge of selling liquor to Hayes, which showed that his wife was an invalid and insisted on him was responsible for the fine of $100 and costs, without jail sentence, which was given out in his case. Failure to pay the fine would result in a three months jail sentence.

Ford Slusser, confessed agent in a booze transaction in which he gained no profit, was given a $100 fine and costs with the alternative of taking a three months jail sentence.

Farmers Fined

F. Ertle, Town of Auburndale, owner of a farm which was raided by state officers with the result that a still, mash and "moon" were found was given a $250 fine and costs sentence when he pleaded guilty before the court. The fine that he must pay within ten days or spend six months in the county jail in default of payment of fine and costs sentence.

W. C. Breu, Town of Auburndale was given a $200 fine and costs sentence after pleading guilty of operating a still and selling liquor. When questioned by the court as to how he had a $1100 mortgage on his farm causing the court to remark "I suppose paying interest on $1100 is enough to drive you to 'moon'." Failure to pay the fine and costs will result in another term at the Bogie hotel for six months.

Second Conviction

Elmer Moberg, Sherry, convicted on a previous Severson law violation was given a six months jail sentence suspended for one week in order that the defendant could arrange matters on the farm and place his two small children in the hands of relatives.

Evidence brought out in this case showed that the defendant was left alone with two small children when his wife ran away last fall. The four year old daughter was in court with the father and was the cause of many tears shed on the part of women jurors who expressed sympathy for the child, but little for the father.

Walter Susser and Adolph Blanc were expected in court to plead guilty to charges against them which will end the criminal cases for this term of court as all cases have been postponed.

Jurors Dismissed

Civil cases are also postponed until the next term of court as it is necessary that Judge Park be in Wautoma for the opening of the spring term of court which opens April 16.

Thanking the jurors for their services and expressing his sorrow that they did not have an opportunity to hear civil cases, the judge dismissed the jurors for this term.

Cases of issue of fact for court will undoubtedly take up the remaining portion of the term.

British Indian Troops Want Native Officers

Delhi, India.—The Indianization of the Indian Army, which has been one of the most disturbing questions in Indian politics during recent months, is being made a leading subject for discussion at the present session sought by the Indian troops. Agitation along this line has been increasing gradually for several years, and is expected to result in legislative action at an early date.

In a recent meeting of the legislative assembly, Mr. Yamin Khan moved to recommend to the Governor-General-in-Council that he get King's Commissions for Indians by direct recruitment until all Indian regiments are wholly Indianized.

Mr. Yamin Khan, in urging his resolution, made it clear that he did not underrate the services rendered by British officers in India. His position was that Indian soldiers should have an opening for rising to the highest ranks in the army, as is the case in other countries.

Lord Rawlinson, Commander-in-Chief of the Indian Army, replying to Mr Yamin Khan, said the government recognized that the demand for Indianization was inevitable, and was considering a scheme to bring it about. He held that there should be no violent change, and that the best time for transformation would be when the country is undisturbed by external or internal dangers, and gave as his opinion that there should be no wholesale Indianization before the success or failure of the change had been tested on a limited scale.

Arbor Day will be generally observed in Kansas today with the planting of trees and exercises in the school.

The case against Alfred Baierl Auburndale, was dismissed owing to the lack of insufficient evidence. According to local officials a small bottle of moon was found in the home of the defendent soon after the death of the father who had been running a hotel and soft drink parlor. As the license was taken out in the father's name and as the children claime they did not know the liquor existed the state was willing to dismiss the charges.

Local Men Sentenced

William Bodette, pleaded guilty to the charge of selling liquor to Hayes but owing to his past good record he was let off with a two months jail sentence after first receiving a three months sentence.

John Possely, arraigned on the same charge, pleaded guilty and was given three months jail sentence. The fact that he did not fight the case and did not commit perjury was responsible for the light sentence imposed.

Evidence brought out in behalf of James Mason, owner of soft drink parlor in this city, who pleaded guilty to the charge of selling liquor to Hayes, which showed that his wife was an invalid and needed his care was responsible for the fine of $100 and costs, without jail sentence, which was given out in his case. Failure to pay the fine would result in a three months jail sentence.

Ford Slusser, confessed agent in a booze transaction in which he gained no profit, was given a $100 fine and costs with the alternative of taking a three months jail sentence.

Farmers Fined

F. Eitle, Town of Auburndale, owner of a farm which was raided by state officers with the result that a still, mash and "moon" were found, was given a $250 fine and costs sentence when he pleaded guilty before the court. The fact that he was a married man with children to care for was responsible for his escaping a jail sentence.

W. C. Breu, Town of Auburndale, was given a $100 fine and cost sentence after pleading guilty to operating a still and selling liquor. When questioned by the court it was found that he had a $17,000 mortgage on his farm causing the court to remark, "I suppose paying interest on $17,000 is enough to drive you to "moon." Failure to pay the fine and costs will result in another boarder at the Bogie hotel for six months.

Second Conviction

Elmer Moberg, Sherry, convicted on a previous Severson law violation was given a six months jail sentence suspended for one week in order that the defendant could arrange matters on the farm and place his two small children in the hands of relatives.

Evidence brought out in this case showed that the defendant was left alone with two small children when his wife ran away last fall. The four year old daughter was in court with the father and was the cause of many tears shed on the part of women jurors who expressed sympathy for the child, but little for the father.

Walter Susser and Adolph Manel were exepected in court to plead guilty to charges against them which will end the criminal cases for this term of court as all cases have been postponed.

Jurors Dismissed

Civil cases are also postponed until the next term of court as it is necessary that Judge Park be in Wautoma for the opening of the spring term of court which opens April 16.

Thanking the jurors for their services and expressing his sorrow that they did not have an opportunity to hear civil cases, the judge dismissed the jurors for this term.

Cases of issue of fact for court will undoubtedly take up the remaining portion of the term.

British Indian Troops Want Native Officers

Delhi, India.—The Indianization of the Indian Army, which has been one of the most disturbing questions in Indian politics during recent months, is being made a leading subject for discussion at the present session sought by the Indian troops. Agitation along this line has been increasing gradually for several years, and is expected to result in legislative action at an early date.

In a recent meeting of the legislative assembly, Mr. Yamin Khan moved to recommend to the Governor-General-in-Council that he get King's Commissions for Indians by direct recruitment until all Indian regiments are wholly Indianized.

Mr. Yamin Khan, in urging his resolution, made it clear that he did not underrate the services rendered by British officers in India. His position was that Indian soldiers should have an opening for rising to the highest ranks in the army, as is the case in other countries.

Lord Rawlinson, Commander-in Chief of the Indian Army, replying to Mr Yamin Khan, said the government recognized that the demand for Indianization was inevitable, and was considering a scheme to bring it about. He held that their should be no violent change, and that the best time for transformation would be when the country is undistrubed by external or internal dangers, and gave as his opinion that there should be no wholesale Indianization before the success or failure of the change had been tested on a limited scale.

Arbor Day will be generally observed in Kansas today with the planting of trees and exercies in the school.

Eskimos Say Ghosts Often Hold Midnight Revels

Anchorage, Alaska.—Some natives of Alaska profess to believe that the angry spirits of the Aleuts massacred at the behest of the early Russian discoverers and traders under Shelikoff, Baranoff and Chirikoff, are lurking in the volcanoes of the Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes.

Beneath the thin crust of the earth covering the lower Alaskan peninsula and the Aleutian archipelago, there spirits, the natives assert, are holding nightly revels and emerging periodically to hurl fire, smoke and thunder at the heads of the invaders.

The fanciful recital of the natives is that on Chirikoff island, long famed as haunted, a half hundred natives were lured into a log compound, set upon by savage enemies under direction of the Russians, murdered and despoiled of priceless sea otter skins. Their spirits are appearing again in protest. The eruption of three volcanoes in January is, they say, a revisitation of these spirits, and will continue until they are avenged.

For many years Chirikoff island has been a place seldom inhabited by natives or whites. Many harrowing tales from Chirikoff were brought here by Captain Nick Galkena, who had visited almost every nook and harbor along the Aleutians. Last summer the skipper braved the Valley of Smokes, emerging with the shoe burned from his feet, and with many stories to tell.

A pessimist can't go forward because he always has the brakes on to keep from slipping back.

"His Wife's First" Makes Great Hit At Ideal Theater

Keeping their audience in a spasm of laughter throughout their performance of "His Wife's First," the Rapids Dramatic Society covered themselves with glory Wednesday and Thursday evenings at the Ideal Theater with their apt presentation of the play that made George M. Cohan a great favorite on New York stages.

Wendell Miscoll, as "Poor Pillicoddy," lived up to his previous reputation as having professional ability. His part, a difficult one, was handled in great style with the result that whenever he appeared on the stage the audience prepared for a laugh.

Evelyn Bissig, as Pillicoddy's wife, and the cause of all Poor Pillicoddy's moments of misery and fleeting spasms of bliss, was extremely clever in her presentation of the part.

Margaret Bossert captured the hearts of the audience as the wife of Captain O'Scuttle and the innocent cause of all of Poor Pollicoddy's trouble. She handled her part with extreme delicateness and with the air of a professional.

Margaret McGlynn, as Sarah, the shop girl and maid of all work, who was bound to have her own way, carried out her part with great vim and kept the audience in a happy frame of mind with her saucy impishness and ability to imitate the hard-boiled Captain O'Scuttle.

Howard Bell, playing the difficult part of Captain O'Scuttle showed marked ability to adapt himself to "terms of the tars" and was really a scream with his hard boiled antics.

The act, staged under the direction of Mrs. Caroline Booth, showed that the members and director had spent considerable time and energy in staging the event, which was received with enthusiasm by the large audience.

One hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the birth of James Mill, Scottish historian and philosopher.

LONDON WORRIED BY AIR STRENGTH SHOWN IN FRANCE

WEAKNESS IN AIR DEFENSE AGAIN AWAKENS PUBLIC INTEREST; EXPERT SAYS COUNTRY IS WEAK

London—Britian's weakness in air defence again occupies public attention, and the government is being urged to give serious and immediate attention to the strengthening of that arm of England's fighting forces. In an article in the Daily Telegraph Major C. C. Turner a well known air expert, compares Britian's air equipment with that of France and declares that the British "are incredibly weak in this respect, considering their geographical situation and their responsibilities."

France Prepared

Major Turner proceeds to give some interesting figures respecting France's growing airplane resources, and says France easily is mistress of the air of the world. "That county," he says, "according to authorative information available in Paris, will have a total of 220 air squadrons by the end of the present year. This means 2,200 airplanes in the first line, with proportionate reserves and with the necessary transport, medical and other auxiliary services. The French governmenti s actuated by consideration that the strategic situation of France makes her more open to attack by land and sea than anw other western power and it feels, therefore that as her military power diminishes it is necessayr that her air power be increased."

France's war reserve in the air service, Major Turner continues, is about 4,800 airplanes of various types with the necessary means of supply and maintenance. "In the eleven months ended Nov. 30, 1922," he writes, "French airplane manufacturers turned out 3,300 machines, including a few required for export.

"Deplorable Showing"

"The total number of British active air squadrons is thirty-two, of which the greater number are abroad. This makes a deplorable showing as against France's more than 200 squadrons."

The British warfare as conducted in 1914-1918 was child's play compared with what it will be in the futre. "We know," he remarks gravely, "that the British fleet, no matter how preponderant on the sea, cannot save our homes from the power that strikes oswiftly from the sky. We ought to ask ourselves whether we can be defended against this new power, as formerly we kept our shores inviolable. Could the people endure the strain of bombardment from the air, and the constant fear of it? Here may be our most vulnerable point; and at it an enemy would strike first, hoping at small cost to himself to weaken our resolve and paralyze our mind and arm.

No Danger of War

"There is no imminent danger of war, but no man can bes ure of peace even five years ahead. Before 1914 we were content with our small army, knowing that, at the worst, we should have time to create new armies. That assurance has gone forever. We shall not have time, for within a few hours of the ruture of peace our homes, workshops, transport and munition factories would be attacked.

"True, at the moment, there is only one power that could strike at us through the air, and that power is France, happily our ally. But who can say what changes in the distribution of air power and in friendship may not occur within the next few years?"

A million pounds sterling in subsidies for comemrcial air service will be paid to an air transport company if parliament accepts the recommendations of the air ministry.

The government has already given large subsidies to various companies operating air passenger lines to the continent under plans that have proved unsuccessful, as they allowed competition among the companies at the expense of the government.

Government Gives Help

The new plan provides that the government will undertake to furnish a million pounds, to be allotted over a space of ten years, to any firm with a capital of a million pounds and which is capable of developing commercial aviation.

The government will allow the company complete control of its own development, requiring only that all profits over ten per cent be equally divided between the government and the shareholders. When the million pounds has been repaid, the government will drop all connection with the company.

Several companies are understood to be preparing to bid for the subsidy monopoly if the plan is passed by parliament.

Air liners, able to carry from eight to a hundred passengers across the Atlantic in less than 24 hours, will it is claimed, become practicable with the use of two 1000-horsepower aeroplane engines being built for the air ministry. These engines will be the most powerful in the world, and will burn crude oil instead of petrol.

LEGISLATURE TO RESTORE RIGHTS TAKEN BY COURT

SEEK TO GRANT PUBLIC ACCESS TO WISCONSIN LAKES; PROPERTY OWNERS WOULD EXCLUDE PEOPLE

Madison, Wis.—The right of access by all the people of the state to the lakes of Wisconsin is a proposal made in the Oliver bill argued in the assembly for nearly an hour. This bill would compel the plotting of lands around lakes and the leading of highways to the lakes so that the public would have full access to the water.

Impetus of the Oliver bill was given as a result of a decision in the Wisconsin Supreme Court this week which held that a land owner controlled the shores of a lake to low water level. This important decision effecting all waters of the state has caused a turmoil in the lower house with the result that more than a score of members in the legislature expressed themselves as favoring legislation which will open every lake in the state to the people. The Oliver bill has been referred back to the judiciary committee of the house for further consideration. It was claimed that the Oliver measure was not far reaching and that a new substitute should be drafted which will secure for the people, the right of access to the lakes of Wisconsin.

Lakes Inaccessible

"There is a chain of lakes in Wisconsin not far from my home and it is practically impossible for any person to get them except where the public highway touches Lake Geneva," declared D. J. Vincent of Kenosha county. "I think the lakes of the state should be opened to the people. The public is being more and more excluded from these lakes. This legislature should take action before it is too late."

"Up in northern Wisconsin, one wealthy man has bought all the land around the lake and has built a high wire fence to keep the public out," said Assemblyman A. M. Warden. "One man cut his way thru the wire fence to get to the lake and I understand that an injunction has since been obtained to keep the public out. The state has replenished these lakes with fish and now the public has been excluded from fishing in these lakes. Let us act before it is too late and save the lakes of Wisonsin for all the people."

Belong to People

"The lakes and the rivers should belong to all the people of the state," declared Assemblyman James T. Oliver in urging the passage of the bill. "I cannot understand why the state should spend thousands of dollars every year to plant fish in these lakes then be denied the privilege of having access to use the lakes. If things are to go on as they have in the past ten years, wealthy residents of Chicago, St. Louis, and Kansas City will own the lakes of Wisconsin for all the people plant these lakes with fish and the millionaires will catch the fish."

The only objection made to the Oliver bill was that it might not accomplish what it was intended to do. For this reason, Assemblyman Charles Perry of Milwaukee asked that the bill be returned to the judiciary committee of the house. The bill will again be on the coming calender within the coming week. Assemblyman J. D. Grandine of Forrest County declared that this was one of the most important pieces of legislation in the public interest which will come before this session of the legislature.

How to Gain Strength and Endurance

Milwaukee, Wis.—"For the last twenty years I have used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery at times, as a general tonic with excellent results. No Verdict In Foster Trial; Jury Divided

(By Associated Press)

St. Joseph, Mich. Apr. 6—Not once in thirty-one hours and fifteen minutes of deliberation did the jurors in the trial of William Z. Foster of Chicago, charged with criminal syndicalism, waver from the stand taken on its first ballot which was six for acquittal and six for conviction. The jury was out from about ten o'clock Wednesday until five o'clock yesterday afternoon when the jury was dismissed, hopelessly deadlocked.

Thirty-eight ballots were taken. Mrs. Minerva Olson, only woman on the jury, was one of the six who voted for acquittal. Five of the six who's ought conviction were farmers. The other was a crossing watchman.

Inability of the jury to agree was regarded as a victory for Foster. Foster was the first defendant tried under the Michigan syndicalism l...

Great Lake District Expects Big Iron Yield

Duluth, Minn.—Activity of ore producing mines in the Lake Superior district is considered as evidence of the prediction made by operators that 55,000,000 tons of iron ore will be shipped from the district this year, an estimate just 5,000,000 tons short of the record, and more than 10,000,000 tons higher than the tonnage handled last year.

Railroads are ordering new equipment; day and night shifts of workers are repairing cars and docks; underground mines are working full shifts to increase their stock piles and on the open pit properties great chasms are being opened to make way for the removal of the mineral.

Encouraging reports have been received from Great Lakes shipping points regarding prospects for an early opening of navigation. Ice conditions are reported especially good at the head of the lakes and on western Lake Superior. The late February thaw loosened the thick ice floes and they have been pretty well broken up, mariners declare.

Vessel concerns report that their fleets are being made ready to sail from winter quarters just as soon as ice conditions permit.

Why is it moths seldom make the mistake of eating a patch.

CONSIDER MEANS OF MEETING COST OF T. B. CAMPAIGN

MAY ATTEMPT TO SHIFT PORTION OF COST UPON CITIES AND COUNTIES; LIVESTOCK MEN CONSULTED

(By Associated Press)

Madison, Wis. Apr. 6—Representatives of Wisconsin Livestock and farm organizations will meet with Governor Blaine Thursday to consider legislation affecting the program of tuberculosis eradication being urged by the state department of agriculture. C. P. Norgord, commissioner of agriculture, announces. Means of financing the proposed $1,000,000 annual appropriation for indemnification of condemned cattle, are to be discussed.

The Wisconsin Farm Bureau, Equity Society, State Grange, Dairymen's association, State Livestock Breeders' association, and all of the state cattle associations, will be represented at the conferences which the commissioner of agriculture says "will be most vital in determining Wisconsin's policy on tuberculosis eradication for several years to come and in the entire clean-up of the state. It will fundamentally affect Wisconsin's future standing among the states as a cattle state on freedom from tuberculosis."

Bill Is Prepared

Those attending the conference had before them for analysis a bill representing a compromise between various parties interested in tuberculosis eradication. The bill provides for a participating policy of financing with cities and counties bearing a share of the cost of administering test work.

In a letter to those called for the conference, Mr. Norgord said: "I am recommending as the first and best plan, the non-participation by the counties in the first test and have introduced with the bill an amendment removing county participation to that effect. This bill also provides for restricting the amount of funds which can be used for scattered farmer veterinary tests to 15 per cent of the total indemnity fund. It provides further that not less than 50 per cent of the total indemnity fund shall be used for area test work with the accredited herds and sales indemnity funds coming in between."

Will Sound Sentiment

The representatives who attended the meeting were asked to be prepared to say whether there is a real sentiment among the people of the state for a speedy clean-up of tuberculosis through one of the various eradication plans. They are asked to express themselves on the question of a restricted indemnity to reduce the cost of a large eradication program, and to say whether the proposed $1,000,000 annual expenditure for five years is too big a draft on the resources of the state.

It is also to be determined whether the counties should participate with the state in raising indemnity and operating funds for area testing through an annual tax or otherwise, and whether the counties producing the largest amount of milk for fluid consumption should be given preference in the order of testing.

Clerk, Andrew Timm; Chairman, Chas. Steinke; Treasurer, Wm. Witt; Assessor, J. D. Yetter; Supervisors, C. Brandt and Wm. Arndt.

Anti-Search Rule May Be Help To Illegal Hunters

Madison, Wis.—Just what effect the recent decison of the supreme court prohibiting the searching of automobiles without a search warrant will have on the enforcement of the game laws of the state is one of the problems which will come before the state conservation commission. The court this week in a case from Kenosha county held that a sheriff coud not follow his scent to an automobile and search it for "booze."

In the decision of the court it was pointed out by Judge F. C. Eschweiler that one section of the constitution was as sacred as any others and the provision in the constitution protecting a person for unreasonable search was in full force.

The claim is made that a large majority of the hunters who are arrested in northern Wisconsin get into the toils of the law through a discovery of evidence of game law violation in their own automobiles. Men have been arrested without a search warrant whose guns were not "knocked down" as required by law and arrests have been made of illegal game found in the automobiles. The claim is being made here by sportsmen that the decision of the court will protect hunters from much of the interference they have been subjected to by game wardens in the past.

CONSIDER MEANS OF MEETING COST OF T. B. CAMPAIGN

MAY ATTEMPT TO SHIFT PORTION OF COST UPON CITIES AND COUNTIES; LIVESTOCK MEN CONSULTED

(By Associated Press)

Madison, Wis. Apr. 6—Representatives of Wisconsin Livestock and farm organizations will meet with Governor Blaine Thursday to consider legislation affecting the program of tuberculosis eradication being urged by the state department of agriculture, C. P. Norgord, commissioner of agriculture, announces. Means of financing the proposed $1,000,000 annual appropriation for indemnification of condemned cattle, are to be discussed.

The Wisconsin Farm Bureau, Equity Society, State Grange, Dairymen's association, State Livestock Breeders' association, and all of the state cattle associations, will be represented at the conferences which the commissioner of agriculture says "will be most vital in determining Wisconsin's policy on tuberculosis eradication for several years to come and in the entire clean-up of the state. It will fundamentally affect Wisconsin's future standing among the states as a cattle state on freedom from tuberculosis."

Bill Is Prepared

Those attending the conference had before them for analysis a bill representing a compromise between various parties interested in tuberculosis eradication. The bill provides for a participating policy of financing with cities and counties bearing a share of the cost of administering test work.

In a letter to those called for the conference, Mr. Norgord said: "I am recommending as the first and best plan, the non-participation by the counties in the first test and have introduced with the bill an amendment removing county participation to that effect. This bill also provides for restrictly the amount of funds which can be used for scattered farmer veterinary tests to 15 per cent of the total indemnity fund. It provides further that not less than 50 per cent of the total indemnity fund shall be used for area test work with the accredited herds and sales indemnity funds coming in between."

Will Sound Sentiment

The representatives who attended the meeting were asked to be prepared to say whether there is a real sentiment among the people of the state for a speedy clean-up of tuberculosis through one of the various eradication plans. They are asked to express themselves on the question of a restricted indemnity to reduce the cost of a large eradication program, and to say whether the proposed $1,000,000 annual expenditure for five years is too big a draft on the resources of the state.

It is also to be determined whether the counties should participate with the state in raising indemnity and operating funds for area testing through an annual tax or otherwise, and whether the counties producing the largest amount of milk for fluid consumption should be given preference in the order of testing.

Anti-Search Rule May Be Help To Illegal Hunters

Madison, Wis.—Just what effect the recent decison of the supreme court prohibiting the searching of automobiles without a search warrant will have on the enforcement of the game laws of the state is one of the problems which will come before the state conservation commission. The court this week in a case from Kenosha county held that a sheriff coud not follow his scent to an automobile and search it for "booze."

In the decision of the court it was pointed out by Judge F. C. Eschweiler that one section of the constitution was as sacred as any others and the provision in the constitution protecting a person for unreasonable search was in full force.

The claim is maile that a large majority of the hunters who are arrested in northern Wisconsin get into the toils of the law through a discovery of evidence of game law violation in their own automobiles. Men have been arrested without a search warrant whose guns were not "knocked down" as required by law and arrests have been made of illegal game found in the automobiles. The claim is being made here by sportsmen that the decision of the court will protect hunters from much of the interference they have been subjected to by game wardens in the past.
